

Tuesday News!

Some highlights for you to know about school:

- Students will Skype with the author Lea Wait today, Tuesday the 27th. Ask your child about this neat experience!
- Students took their last science test of the year today and ended their Chemical Interactions unit! To end the year in science, students will complete a small project on gecko's before saying goodbye to our class pet Rango.
- Each child in seventh and eighth grade also got to plan part of a project about our Christian Value about sharing Christ's love. Ask your student about what they decided to do to show Christian love to another student in our school. Their project needs to be completed by Friday.
- Thank you to everyone who came to my bridal shower on Saturday! I am so thankful for all of your generosity. The shower was a lot of fun and it was so nice that all my students could take part as well!
